OR Technology receives MENA Health World Excellence Award

OR Technology has gained special recognition for an excellent product. MENA Health World, pioneering B2B magazine for the medical sector in the Middle East & North Africa, has awarded dicomPACS® DX-R with an MHW 2008 Excellence Award.

dicomPACS® DX-R is a professional acquisition software for images from flat panel (DR) and imaging plate systems of any manufacturer, developed by OR Technology. The software can also control X-ray generators and motorized X-ray systems, enabling an ideal work process.

Special features of the software include the organ specific image processing providing a high image quality and the integrated radiographic positioning guide with detailed instructions for the taking of images. The solution is completed by the easy and fast operation via touch screen or mouse control.

The MHW 2008 Excellence Awards are focussed on great innovations and exquisite achievements within the rapidly evolving healthcare industry in the Middle East & North Africa. The judging panel was comprised of renowned international healthcare professionals and the magazine's editorial team.
